Nicpitah Studios

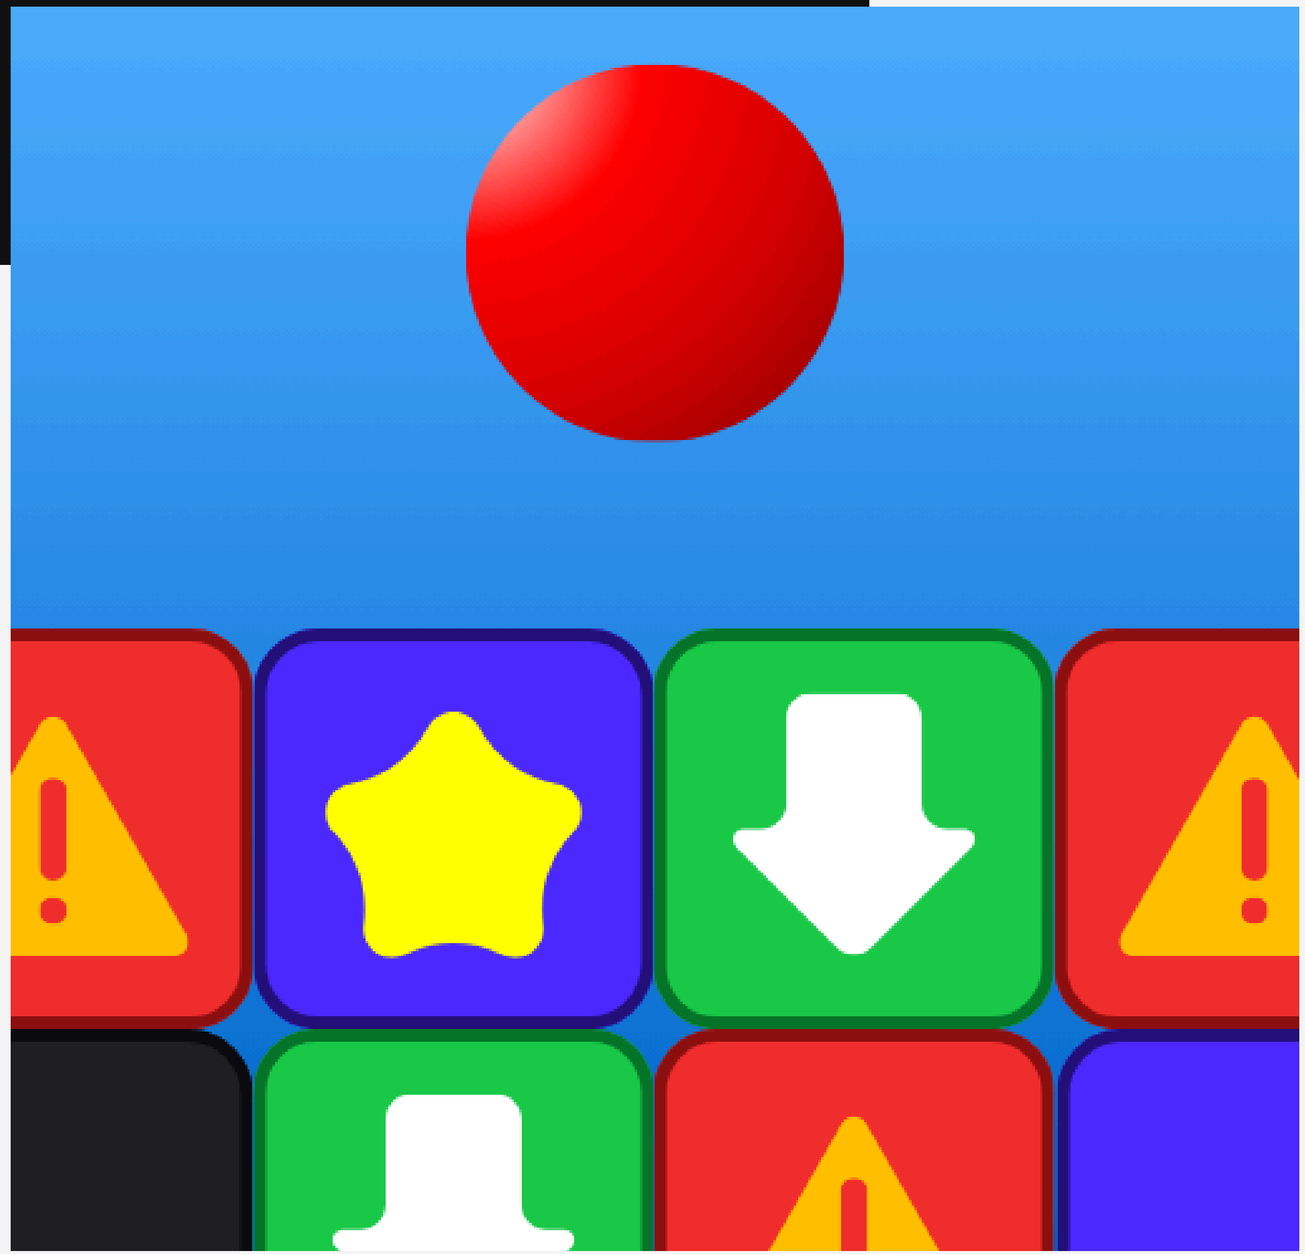

Nicpitah Studios is an independent game development studio founded in 2026 by Nicholas Peter Kiyingi, a Ugandan indie game developer.

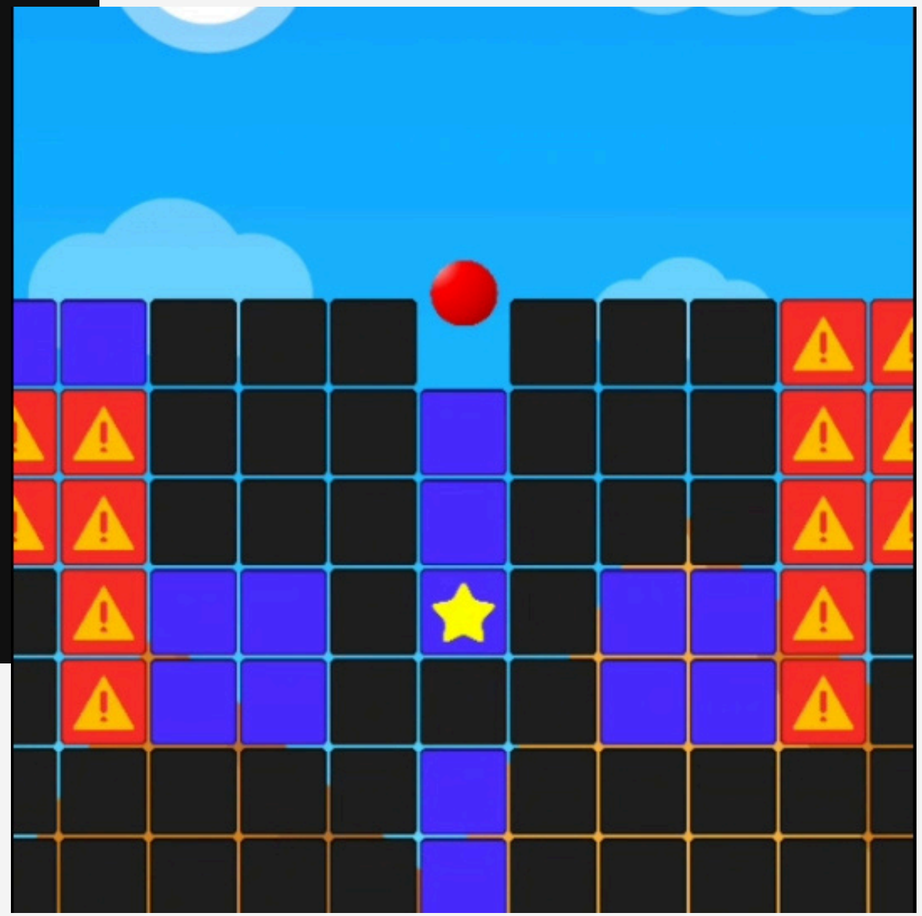

Our goal is to create enjoyable, engaging and memorable digital experiences while building a sustainable game development studio from Uganda.

About Game

Ball Rampage is an arcade-style mobile game developed and published by Nicpitah Studios, an independent game studio based in Uganda.

The game challenges players to navigate a ball through increasingly difficult levels, breaking blocks and avoiding dangerous obstacles along the way.

The progress

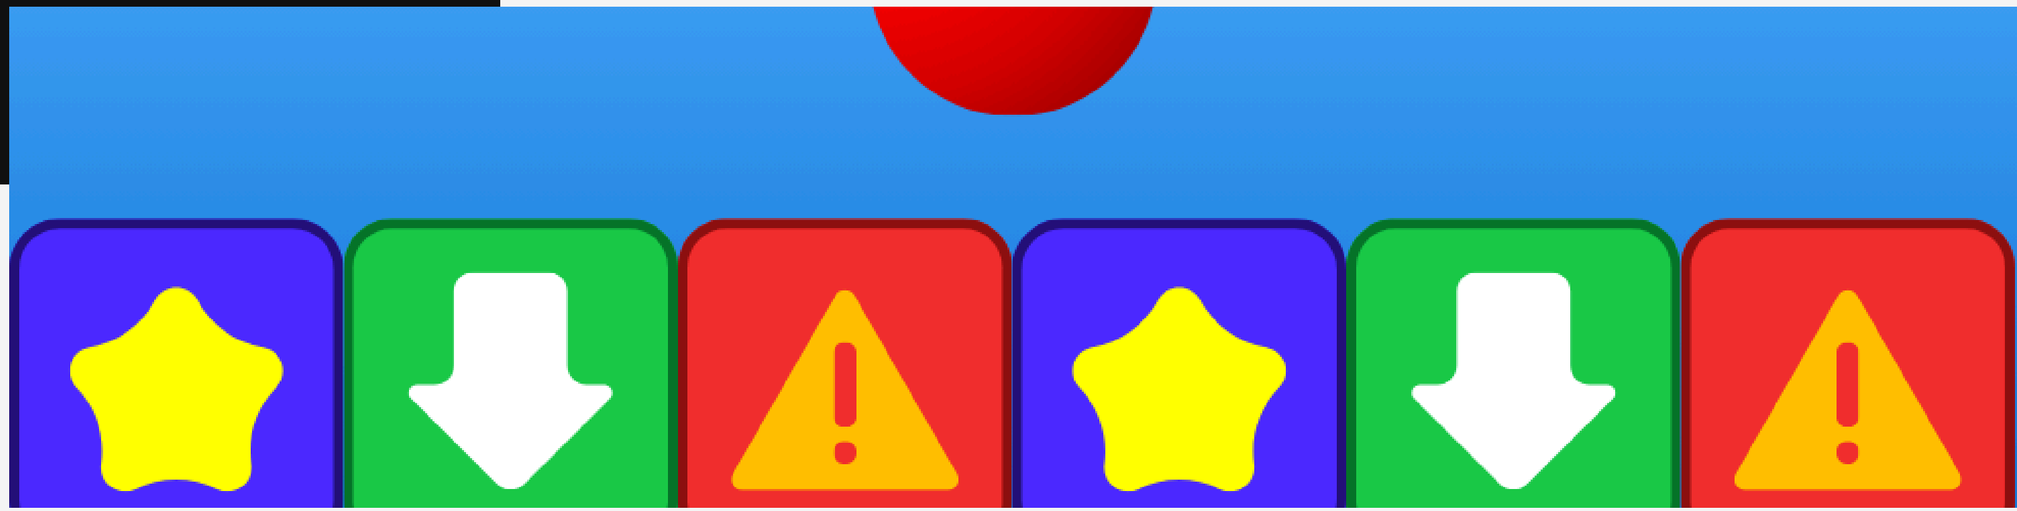

Since its release, Ball Rampage has achieved several milestones as an independently developed mobile arcade game.

Over 500 downloads

Attracted more than 500 downloads from Android players.

4.9-star rating

Received positive player feedback, with a 4.9-star rating from 65 ratings (based on the previously shared figures).

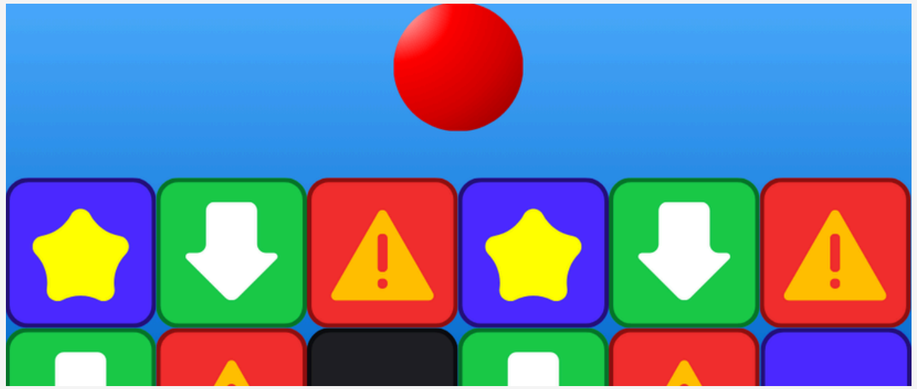

Funding request

Nicpitah Studios is seeking financial sponsorship of US$2,500–US$5,000 to support the continued development of Ball Rampage and strengthen the studio's capacity to create and publish more original games.

Why we need the money

To acquire essential development resources, strengthen production, improve existing games and create new gaming projects. In appreciation of their support, sponsors will receive recognition on the Ball Rampage main screen, logo placement in agreed promotional materials, acknowledgement in studio communications and opportunities for future promotional collaborations.

We believe great games can come from anywhere in the world. With the right support, Nicpitah Studios can grow into a stronger game development company from Uganda. We intend to retain full ownership and creative control of our studio and intellectual property. This is a sponsorship proposal, not a request for an ownership transfer.

What sponsor gets

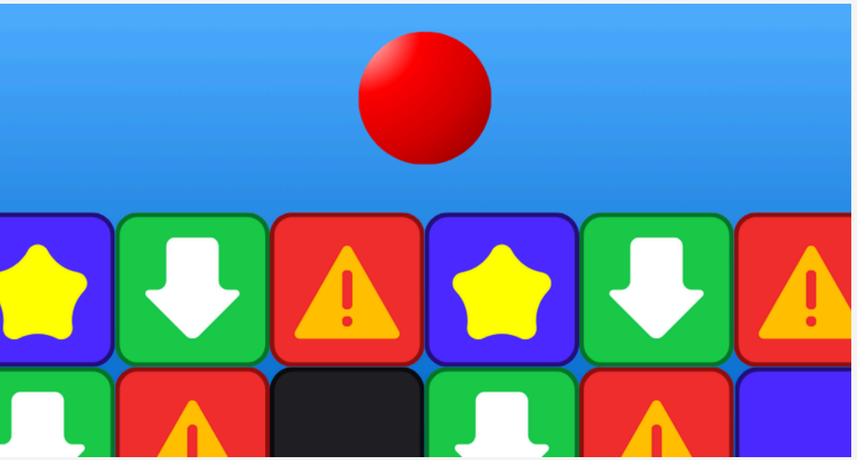

In appreciation of their financial support, Nicpitah Studios will offer sponsors brand visibility and recognition through:

Main screen recognition

Sponsor name and logo displayed on the Ball Rampage main screen.

Promotional exposure

Sponsor logo featured in agreed marketing materials.

Thank You
